

Vermilion supports the Progrès association, based in Arzacq in the Pyrénées-Atlantiques.

The aim of this association is to implement support actions to prevent young people from dropping out of school and to support parents in their educational role.

These actions are carried out in close collaboration with schools, families and socio-educational partners.

The association works with young people in two secondary schools in the North Bearn region of the Pyrénées-Atlantiques: Arzacq and Garlin.

The associative project is declined in 2 actions:

1. To accompany the young people in their schooling
2. To accompany the young person in his opening to the world (professional/social life)

Thus, French and mathematics workshops are offered on weekday evenings in the villages where the students live. For each of the workshops, the facilitators work on the skills of each young person based on his or her achievements and shortcomings, by putting them in a position to succeed thanks to innovative teaching methods.

Our partnership is based on two actions:

- a financial grant for the purchase of computer equipment
- a donation of two refurbished laptops
