Vermilion Energy Trust Announces 2006 Canadian and US Tax Information
For Immediate Release – February 23, 2007

Vermilion Energy Trust ("Vermilion" or the "Trust") (VET.UN-TSX) announces the 2006 tax treatment on distributions for unitholders in Canada and the United States.

Canadian Individual Unitholders:

For the 2006 taxation year, the treatment of distributions is 100% return on capital (taxable income).

For purposes of the Canadian Income Tax Act, the Trust is a mutual fund trust. Each year, an income tax return is filed by the Trust with the taxable income allocated to and taxable in the hands of unitholders. Distributions paid by the Trust can be both a return of capital (i.e. a repayment of a portion of the investment) and a return on capital (i.e. income).

Each year the taxable income portion or return on capital, is calculated and reported in the Trust's T3 return and allocated to each unitholder who received distributions for that taxation year on the T3 Supplementary forms, which are mailed to unitholders before March 31st in accordance with regulatory requirements. Registered unitholders will receive a T3 Supplementary form directly from the Trust's transfer agent, Computershare Trust Company of Canada. Beneficial unitholders will receive a T3 Supplementary form from their broker or other intermediary. The T3 slip will report both the taxable and non-taxable income components of their distributions. The tax deferred, or return of capital component of distributions reduces the unitholder's adjusted cost base of trust units.

Unitholders who hold their investment in a Registered Retirement Savings Plan, Registered Retirement Income Fund, Deferred Profit Sharing Plan or Registered Education Savings Plan need not report any income related to trust unit distributions on their 2006 income tax return.

The following table sets out the tax treatment of the Canadian 2006 monthly distributions:

United States Individual Unitholders:

For 2006, the Trust has calculated that 100% of the distributions paid in 2006 are dividends that are "Qualifying Dividends". If the amount of "Non-Taxable Return of Capital" exceeds the cost of units, the excess should be reported as a capital gain. We believe the Trust should be treated as a qualified corporation for United States tax purposes. For unitholders resident in the United States, taxability of distributions is calculated using U.S. tax rules. The taxable portion of the monthly distribution is determined annually by the Trust based upon current and accumulated earnings in accordance with U.S. tax law.

Investors should consult their brokers and tax advisors to ensure that the information presented here is accurately reflected on their tax returns.

Summary

The information in this release is not meant to be an exhaustive discussion of all possible income tax considerations, but a general guideline and is not intended to be legal or tax advice to any particular holder or potential holder of Vermilion trust units. Holders or potential holders of trust units should consult their own income tax advisors as to the particular income tax consequences of holding the trust units.

Unitholders who are not residents of Canada for income tax purposes are encouraged to seek advice from a qualified tax advisor in the country of residence for the tax treatment of distributions. Monthly distributions payable to non-residents of Canada are normally subject to a withholding tax of 25% as prescribed by the Income Tax Act of Canada. This withholding tax may be reduced in accordance with reciprocal tax treaties, and in the case of the Tax Treaty between Canada and the United States, the withholding tax for residents of the United States is prescribed at 15%. U.S. taxpayers may be eligible for a foreign tax credit with respect to the Canadian withholding taxes paid. Information regarding the amount of Canadian tax withheld in 2006 should be available through your broker or other intermediary and is not provided by Vermilion.
